Participaction --we did it!

Elk Point and district turned out in full force and with great enthusiasm to celebrate Sweat'n'Sneaker Day last Wednesday, with phones at the Town Office and Recreation Office kept busy by those calling to record their athletic endeavors.

Recreation Coordinator and Participaction Co-chairman Gail Kozicky felt turnout for the day's activities was 'tremendous. It was a real success for our first year.' Next year, the organizing committee predicts response will be even better.

Downtown activities got underway just before the noon hour, with a coffee cup race between the staff at the Empress Restaurant and the Hilltop Cafe, with the well-practiced duo of Chris Shankowski and Lynall Slywka taking the championship. Three young ladies with flying fingers took part in a Type-Off, with Katharina Ludlage unfortunately sidelined by mechanical difficulties while Cynthia Adkins and Margaret Bayduza pounded away into the homestretch, Margaret winning the Woody's Trophies award by 2-word-per-minute margin.

Denise Kissel led an energetic group, including the Elk Point Skipping Team, through a series of aerobics, with the Skipping Team continuing on with a boisterous exhibition of their favorite sport.

Aerobics was again on the agenda at mid-afternoon, when a schoolyard filled with nearly 300 students from both schools got into action, under the direction of Mrs. Kissel, Holly Burton, and Rob Boyd.

Other events were featured at Heritage Lodge, where seniors did the Bird Dance and Bill Osinchuk entertained on the fiddle, at the long-term ward of the hospital, where special exercises were undertaken, and at the Golf Course, where everyone who wished to, enjoyed a free round of

Water rates up June 1

Despite nearly three hours of input from a dozen preturbed ratepayers, Elk Point Town Council voted last Tuesday night to put the $10 per month water rate increase in place, starting June 1.

The hefty hike is necessary to defray massive debenture repayments and rising operating costs for the utility system.

The Town faces $170,000 this year in debenture repayments on water and sewer systems, some of it for debts incurred as far back as 1963. This translates to a payment of $23.65 per utility account per month. At the existing $25 monthly rate, this allowed only $1.35 per month for operating expenses, which Utilities Committee Chairman Allan Frankiw told the ratepayers, cost an additional $4.90 per 1000 gallons.

A $10 increase implemented in mid-1987 'fell far short' of covering the deficit and making the water and sewer systems self-supporting, Frankiw said.

Comments from the public gallery ranged from dire predictions that the entire population will discontinue lawn watering and frequent bathing, to suggestions that the shortfall could be covered by cutting corners in other areas of Town spending.

Council was chided for the recent replacement and conversion of water meters, which cost the Town $38,000. Mayor Mann explained that this did not add to the operating expenses, as these funds came from general capital reserves and were a capital project. Labor for the installation was totally grant funded. Mann noted that the changeover was necessary to insure correct measurement of water, as some of the old meters were far from accurate. Also, some of the meters were located where they could not be read when the customer was not home, necessitating repeated visits by the meter reader or inefficient estimated bills. However, he said that doing the entire replacement/conversion at once 'could have been too aggressive.'

All members of Council agreed that as water customers, they do not like the hike either, but that since the treatment plant and other improvements were badly needed and have been installed, the bill must be paid. Cutbacks on operating costs are not possible, since water quality could not be maintained if chemical usage was decreased. However, several members of Council noted that their households have been cutting back on consumption since the 1987 hike went into effect. Mayor Mann said his own average water bill went up from $30.38 to $49.17 per month, a 62 percent increase, since the hike. Councillor Frankiw reported his household had cut back consumption by up to 1800 gallons a month, 'mostly by small things' such as less frequent regeneration of their water softener.

The previous Council, which implemented plans for the new treatment plant, were absolved of blame for the present economic woes. Their carefully considered decision followed an impact study which indicated the ways the Town should deal with the expected major increase in population, and was based on the most conservative scenario to come out of that study. The new plant was under construction when oil prices dived and the boom came to an abrupt end.

Suggestions that the shortfall be paid annually from offsite levy reserves were countered with an explanation that this would soon deplete the reserves entirely. The previous Council had planned to use these funds to cover the shortfalls for 3 years, at which time they had predicted the system would become self suffi-

Fiftieth anniversaries marked

By Irene Magnusson

In 1988, Elk Point marks 50 years since its incorporation as a Village. In 1988, Alberta Treasury Branches mark 50 years since the opening of their first Branch—actually, four Branches—in 1938.

Mayor Byron Mann stopped over at the Elk Point Treasury Branch for coffee and cake with Manager J. G. (Gordon) LeDrew, on Thursday, May 26, which just happens to be the 7th Anniversary of the day the Branch opened in Elk Point. The two congratulated each other on past successes, and offered wishes for continuing good fortune for the Bank and Elk Point. They also exchanged pins, especially created to commemorate the occasions.

Helping with the celebrations were Mr. T. J. (Tim) Tabor, Marketing Manager, from the Edmonton General Office, and Mr. J. L. (John) Janz, Corporate Banking Officer, also from the Edmonton General Office. Mr. Tabor recalled that the first Treasury Branches, opened half a century ago, were at Rocky Mountain House, Grande Prairie, Andrew and St. Paul.

There are now 132 Branches and 120 Agencies, scattered across the province of Alberta, serving basically a rural population, doing very well, thank you.

The staff at the Elk Point Treasury Branch have been active, with the office dramatically decorated with dozens of bright blue balloons. The Elk Point Treasury Branch employs a staff of ten, mostly local persons, and they all seemed very busy, there in the bright cheerful atmosphere of the bank.

cient. However, a greatly decreased growth rate has cut funds going into the reserve, as well as making the shortfall larger than they had anticipated. Mayor Mann noted that even with the rate increase, some funding from the reserves will have to be used to make up the difference. This could take approximately $95,000 of reserve funds over the next two years.

With the Town's goal still a zero deficit on its water operations, there is little doubt that, as one ratepayer said, water consumers will have to 'bite the bullet and pay for it.'

Elk Point will be celebrating its 50th Anniversary throughout the year, in various ways. Congratulations, Town of Elk Point! Congratulations, Treasury Branches! And congratulations, Albertans, on having this good service to help look after our affairs.

Hire-A-Student underway in Elk Point

By Irene Magnusson

It's that time of year again, with University students looking for summer employment, and High School ending only weeks away, when those needing help and those seeking work can get together.

Scott Prysunka of St. Paul, Student Placement Officer for Hire-A-Student (HAS), was in Elk Point Thursday, May 26, and will be available in the Elk Point Town Office every Thursday afternoon, from 12:30 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. throughout the summer, until early August. His task will be to try to bring potential employers in contact with students seeking employment.

This is the time when Seniors and those who 'just don't have time' could contact these young hopefuls and have grass cut, trees and shrubs trimmed, painting, fencing, window cleaning, etc., done. Take the load off your own shoulders and help the students as well.

The other half of the HAS Program is looked after by Area Coordinator Koreen Trefanenko, also from St. Paul, who is a consultant and spends her time between Cold Lake, Bonnyville, Grand Centre, Two Hills, Smoky Lake and Lac La Biche, as well as Elk Point. She will be visiting each area about every two weeks throughout the summer.

Both these young people are themselves students, so they know what is expected. Both have experience, as they are in their second year at the job. The phone number to use on Thursdays is 724-3810. On other days, Mr. Prysunka may be reached in St. Paul at 645-6019.

Mayor Byron Mann and Town Administrator Pat Vincent were on hand to welcome the two young persons to Elk Point and to snip the official ribbon, which indicates the 'Open for Business' aspect of the HAS program for another year.

At 5:00 p.m. came the event everyone was waiting for: the challenge ballgame between the Towns of Elk Point and St. Paul. Elk Point came out on the weak side in the first inning, but soon got their act together and came back from a 7-0 slump to pound in 11 runs, while St. Paul added 5 to win by a single point. St. Paul Deputy Mayor Pat Gratton was ceremoniously given a 'St. Paul Rapid Transit' ride around the bases in a decorated wheelbarrow by a good-natured Elk Point Mayor Byron Mann.

While Elk Point RCMP tried out similar tactics on the St. Paul RCMP in the second ball challenge of the evening, crowds gathered downtown for a hotdog barbecue, entertainment by the Elk Point Ukrainian Dance Club and Elk Point WunderDogs, demonstrations of golf by Bill Bepalko and racewalking by Holly Burton, the Stinky Sneaker Contest, a riotous water balloon toss, and a half-block-long Texas Line Dance, winding up with a street dance to music provided by Richard Schuhmacher.

Wasn't it great?

'Yet all the boards did shrink'

By Irene Magnusson
Alberta Trails

We are certainly not in the position of the Ancient Mariner, who found 'Water, water, everywhere, Yet all the boards did shrink. Water, water everywhere--And not a drop to drink!', since we don't have the water 'everywhere' that he was surrounded with, salty though it was. We are just short of water--any kind.

This is an astonishing situation, when one considers that, according to my Know-It-All book, only 29 percent of this old Earth is dry land, the remainder being under the bounding main, part of which is also dry--as ice--but this could be rendered into water, as the earth under us cannot.

So the eternal problem we are faced with here, is our dependence on the system nature has worked out, whereby the water is brought from the sea on the wings of the wind, as vapor clouds, to drizzle down upon us as healing rain. On this rainfall (or snowfall) we are to have our lakes and streams replenished, our dugouts filled, and all the vegetation on which we depend for life and beauty around us nourished. All living creatures, both great and small, need water to survive.

Water, so clean, pure and essential to life, is also a very difficult element to control, except in minor ways, such as dams and wells and canals. No matter how hard we try, what dances and incantations we may offer, we cannot bring a drop out of the clouds if it isn't good and ready to fall. I know there have been Rainmakers of old, but doubt very much that anything they had to do with it made the drops to flow. Some have tried hail-suppression tactics, but again, there is nothing they can do if the clouds don't bunch up and carry in the little drops of rain.

Western Canada's present long dry spell has precedents, the last big one, which some of us can still recall, being in the 1930s, and we remember it as drastic. History was changed by it, and it will remain a chapter in the saga of our land. But there must have been many such droughts, and I point to the Sahara desert as surely the results of one. A problem still growing, crowding out life mile by relentless mile, as it pushes growth, greenery, and therefore life in an ever widening circle.

Surely we do not wish to have such a desert here in our land. Many of the methods dreamed up by professionals who make it their life work to learn how to avoid such desert situations, are consistently ignored by farmers and others who work our land. I wonder when we are going to get some legislation which will make such practices illegal? Can we possibly still believe, that while we 'own' a piece of land, and are allowed to cultivate it for a time, that it is eventually and forever OURS? Of course, it is not, and merely under our management, or in some cases, mismanagement, for a few years. I think it is time society, as a whole, laid down a few rules, designed to conserve our precious land for the future. The time cannot be sooner than NOW.

Over-cultivating, stripping all windbreaks and fiber from the soil, these and many other mismanagement activities must surely be halted in some way.

And, of course, as added insurance--go ahead and pray for rain. At least, it can't hurt.

Have any of you noticed how very far from the mark the Old Farmers' Almanac came in their weather predictions for this area this year? This is what they offered for The Prairie Regions for May, 1988: (each prediction covers about three days) Cold, snow, rain and snow, sunny and warm, cold wave, snow, colder with rain turning to snow, sunny, cold, rain, clear and warm, cool and rainy. So how do you like that? We were offered below average temperatures, and 80 mm of precipitation (over 3 inches). Now, wouldn't that have been nice? What we really got was .05 inch--not a great deal! And lots of hot, dry winds.

The coming month of June is predicted by the same source as expecting below average precipitation, and day to day, very much the same as May, sort of cool and showery. So maybe we know what we will really get--and not be too surprised?

To finish off the month of May, and give it its due, take note that we have had a Blue Moon on the 31st. The last one was in July of 1985, and will not occur again until December 1990. Not exactly a 'rare' occurrence--still a bit unusual. (The second full moon in one month is called a Blue Moon.) Also noticed that our neighboring community of Dewberry made the Canadian Weather Trivia Calendar: on May 28, 1986, a rotten severe thunderstorm hit that district, with 75 mm (3 inches) of rain falling in one hour, and the storm came complete with wicked winds, which uprooted trees and demolished buildings.

We are certainly not hoping for such a downpour and turbulence, but a good three-day soaker would be much appreciated, better yet, a series of them.

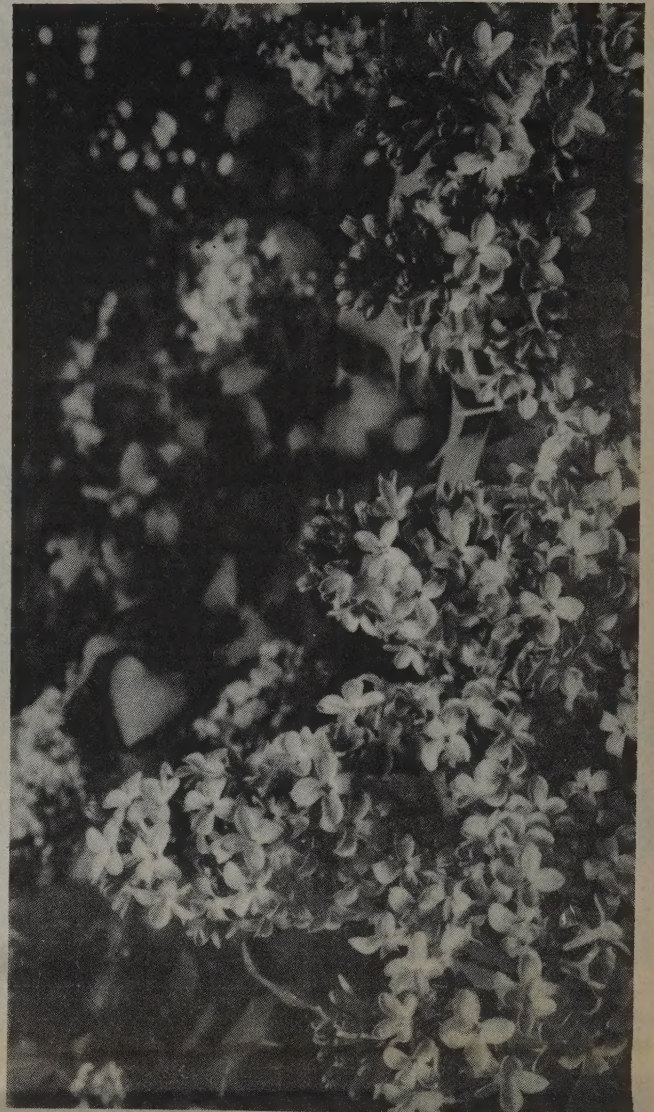

I have been looking at that dust-storm photo on my calendar all through May, and will be glad to turn its depressing face up to the lovely rainbow depicted on the June page. The last note on the page says 'Least amount of precip. recorded in Canada in one year was 12.7 mm (less than 1/2 inch) at Arctic Bay, NWT, in 1949'. We will in no way top that--or I should say, get under that--since we did have 1.39 inches of precipitation in the month of April.

For those of you who pay attention to the Secrets of the Zodiac (and other magical stuff), here are a few dates for you to get the best results from these activities (all in the month of June): Give up smoking--14th; Diet to lose weight--2, 3, 29, 30th; Get a perm--15, 16th; See your Dentist--10, 12th; Begin logging--8, 9th; Start any new project--14th. Now I am an optometrist, and I'd say TODAY is the best day to give up smoking, start a new project, etc..

I also think we will all wake up some morning soon, to find it has been drizzling all night, and that will continue on, until we are sick of it, about four days--and then we will have more rain thereafter.

Meanwhile, remember that, once gone, the earth will not renew--at least not in our time. So stay out of the fields with your big implements when there's a dust storm going, for goodness sakes. Sleep, or read, anything but stir that precious soil into the winds of gone-forever.

Hasn't it been an absolute pleasure to enjoy the lilacs and other flowering trees this spring? When we miss a year, as last year, it feels like they have been gone forever. Even though we know better.

LILACS ARE THE VERY 'QUEENS' OF THE EARLY-FLOWERING SHRUBS -- So fresh, lovely and sweet-scented! There should always be scads of them around. Why don't they grow wild? Perhaps then we would value them less.

I. Magnusson

A week of anniversaries

Anniversaries: a celebration of the past, and of progress, and of hope for the future...

Yesterday, May 31, marked the fiftieth anniversary of the day Elk Point was incorporated as a village. Who would have ever dreamed, that long ago day, of the growth that would be attained, and the development that would take place, over the ensuing half century? From a small farming community, Elk Point has grown to encompass many businesses serving the oil industry, as well as other industries, in our surrounding area and far-flung communities.

This week also marks forty years since the Canadian Salt Company opened the doors of their sparkling new plant near Lindbergh, a plant which has provided employment for generations of area residents, and has contributed substantially to Elk Point's development through the years. An anniversary celebration, complete with tours of the plant, is being held next Thursday, May 9. For those of us who have never seen what goes on in the plant, as the salt deposits are brought to the surface in a water solution, processed and dried, and packaged in its many marketable forms, it is a fine opportunity to see one of our primary industries at work.

Last week, what seems to many of us to be one of our newer businesses, the Treasury Branch, celebrated the 7th anniversary of the Elk Point branch, as well as the fiftieth anniversary of Treasury Branches in Alberta. It doesn't seem possible that seven years have passed since we became a two-bank town, and the handsome brick edifice became a new Main Street landmark.

These occasions are a time for reflection, of looking back at all the accomplishments through the years, at all the people who have come and gone, and those who have stayed, at the dedicated effort that has been put into growth and improvement, and at new friends made.

What the future may bring, no one knows, but remembrances of days gone by will always be a part of our heritage and our history.

Sincere congratulations to our community and to its fine businesses as they reflect on the past and plan for the future.

Seniors Week

Seven days out of 365 have been set aside to pay tribute to those who have built our community, watched over its growth, and raised its younger citizens to take over the tasks of its daily life.

Our community has more than the national average of seniors, many of whom still live in their own homes. Why not call up a senior you know and ask if there are any maintenance tasks or household duties they need help with, or even if they would like to go uptown for coffee? For those who have moved to a seniors' residence would surely appreciate a visit, as would those who are shut-ins.

Have a good week, seniors, and enjoy all the special events which have been planned for you.

Teen Centre news

By Dyvonna Anderson
FCSS Youth Worker

There was plenty of laughter and popcorn for all in attendance at the first Teen Centre Movie Night on May 27. Everyone enjoyed the movies very much and expressed interest in having another movie night in the future. Thanks go out to Rhondaray and Video Point for donating the movies, Tamara Young for the use of her television and VCR, and to Lynn Proskiwi for the use of her popcorn maker. If everything goes as expected, there should be another movie night on Friday, June 17 at the Teen Centre. Watch for posters around town!

Club Reporter
Our final meeting was held May 4th at 7:30 p.m. in the Communiplex. We discussed many things to wrap up the year, including our Achievement
Day, which will be Saturday, June 4th.
In the general meeting, there was a and Karri Barstad on how to construct a 4-H project.

The Crafts Club displayed their completed banner. This banner will be hung up in the Tullibly Lake Communiplex. The Beef Club discussed dates for workshops to complete our barn display. The first one was May 10th, and on May 15th, we had a barn display at the home of our leader, Mr. Noble.

Our 4-H Club participated in the Highway Cleanup on May 7, and enjoyed a picnic at Lea Park afterward.
We invite everyone to come to our Achievement Day on the afternoon of June 4th. The Crafts Club will have their projects on display all day, and there will be supper following the barn display. See you there!

Heinsburg Class of '88 has its dreams

The 1988 Graduating Class of Heinsburg High School may be few in number, but good wishes were many as families and friends gathered Saturday evening to help celebrate the end of one phase of their lives, and the beginning of another.

Corrinne Cross, Aimee Dion, Sheridan Taylor, Kim Thomson and Linda Twarog were honored with a banquet, program and dance in Heinsburg

Community Hall, which was festively decked with streamers and balloons in burgundy, pink and white for the occasion.

Following a poetic invocation by Aimee Dion, a group of Grade 5 and 6 students entertained with the class' theme song, 'I Have A Dream'. Principal Laverne Wilson thanked the graduands for the mark they have left on the school, and predicted that they will go on to make their mark on the world. Wilson explained that the class was originally larger, but that some had left to take employment, while others will be continuing their studies and becoming part of the Class of '89. 'We may be a small school,' Wilson concluded, 'but you hear about us a lot,' referring to sport and other achievements over the year. Wilson presented valedictorian

Kim Thomson with the annual award from Reader's Digest.

Students' Council President Roger Osinchuk congratulated his friends on their graduation, and noted that community support had helped to bring the Students' Union through a year when their major fundraising activities were curtailed by the teachers' strike, to the tune of providing a fine new skating rink and 8 canoes for student use.

The tradition of passing on the school colors was again part of the program, with Linda Twarog passing the colors to Grade 11 student Jason Kinch.

Miss Twarog and her classmate of 12 years, Kim Thomson, gave a series of thoughtful and humorous remarks on their fellow graduands, and on each other. Special presentations were made by the girls to Marjorie Carter, Marie Zayac and Sandra Bishop for their help in preparing for the graduation.

Superintendent of Schools Ted Cabaj and County Councillor Bob Smith were on hand to present the Class of '88 with scrolls, County pins and Alberta pins sent along by MLA John Drobot. A sixth scroll was presented to Marie Zayac by Marjorie Carter, who said Mrs. Zayac had bemoaned the fact that she had not graduated from Heinsburg School.

Valedictorian Kim Thomson reviewed the past dozen years, from when the grads were preschoolers, dreaming of climbing on a big yellow bus and going off to school, through the horrors of junior high homework, to the final days of their final year at Heinsburg. 'Now we're ready to pursue our dreams, and go our separate ways...with these memories always fresh in our minds,' she said, advising her classmates 'don't ever give up on your dreams, never let them go.'

Guest speaker was Bob Hendriks, who until recently was a teacher at the school. He was introduced by his wife Shirley, who added her personal congratulations to the graduands. Hendriks, who said this was his first stint as guest speaker in 26 years of teaching, contrasted the occasion to his own graduation day, some 30 years ago, noting that the feelings of apprehension mixed with relief felt by both graduating classes are very similar. He recounted a boring guest speaker, an out-of-tune band and an un-beautiful escort, and 'watching the sun rise out by the slaughterhouse', but said he had had a good time, anyway, proving his theory that 'graduation is what you make it.' Hendriks told the assembly his philosophy of success, which involves living on what you earn, expecting change, being happy with yourself and travelling as much as possible. He closed on a nostalgic musical note, playing a tape (after first threatening to play the guitar) of Vera Lynn's famous World War II hit, 'We'll Meet Again.' Presentations were made to both Mr. and Mrs. Hendriks by Linda Twarog.

Further Education Council deliberates

By Irene Magnusson

Thursday, May 19, saw a good turnout of members of the Elk Point and District Further Education Council gather at the Empress Cafe for their spring meeting.

Opening the meeting, Chairperson Margaret Modin presented Certificates of Appreciation to several former members, who have served the group well in past years, and now wish to retire from the Council. Marie Buck, Sharil Baumgardner and Paul Stepa were present to receive their certificates, Irene Miller and Marj Carter were not present, and theirs will be delivered to them. Thanks were extended to all.

Gladys Drobot, Coordinator-Secretary, read the minutes, previously mailed to the members, and they were accepted.

A Financial Statement was circulated, and following a few questions, accepted.

Gladys Drobot then gave her report, indicating she was disappointed with the number of classes which carried through, as compared to the number offered, and she questioned if the Council members and other groups had been cooperative enough. Sixteen courses were offered, but some were cancelled due to lack of participants. The question was asked, is the group worthwhile?

Most present agreed it was, even if it is not as active as they might wish. Kirsty Piquette, D.A., and Monica King, D.H.E., both said they needed the Further Ed structure to help put out programs for the community. John Hutton, County Councillor, said participation in Further Ed Programs, as well as programs offered by others, was down considerably all over the province, so the Elk Point group should not feel too discouraged by the smaller response.

Programs ARE being offered, and many are proceeding. Some members suggested more one-day sessions, as people are so busy, and might find these easier to attend than a continuation of days.

The suggested courses which could be offered included more on hockey matters, coaching, etc., high-profile speakers, defensive driving, also community awareness programs. However, none of these will be decided before the fall, when a full proposed agenda and budget must be prepared well ahead of time.

These programs may be subject to revision, if it is found a more acceptable program can be offered. Much will depend on the Program Committee, and the Finance Committee, who will be meeting soon. All ideas will be considered, and hopefully, the best ones chosen.

All programs offered require the signed-up, paid-up participation of eight adults, before they can proceed. Juniors may take part, but they would be in addition to the eight adults. Instruction fees are 75 cents per hour, excepting for senior citizens, who may take any course free of fee charge. (Materials used are extra).

The Council will meet again in the fall to develop and promote the season's programs. Meanwhile the Council is still open for suggestions and ideas—from anyone. Mrs. Drobot will no longer be in the office, but may still be reached at her home by phone, as may other Council members.

Clandonald News

By Shirley Osinchuk

First of all, an apology to Kyla Graham, whose picture was in the Public Speaking winners, but with the wrong name. Kyla was the Grade 3 winner of the Clandonald School public speaking.

The Knights of Columbus treated the Moms to breakfast again this year, on Mothers' Day. The many families who bring their Moms each year agree that this is a real treat. Thanks, Knights.

A very important project of the Knights of Columbus is their work for battered wives and children. We can help support this by buying calendula seeds that they sell, for a donation, each spring.

Summer sports leagues have started, but the only scores available at writing time were for the PeeWee girls ball team. They hosted Kitscoty on Tues., May 3. Kitscoty took an early lead, but it looked like Clandonald might catch up in the fifth, when they put in the maximum ten runs. They could not hold back the Kitscoty team, who got ten more in the top of the seventh, to finish the game, (remember, this is baseball, not football) 38 to 27.

On Friday, the girls went to Elk

Point, where the Elk Point girls took a four run lead in the first inning, which Clandonald caught up in the second. They held even through the third, then Elk Point pulled ahead again, this time by nine runs. Good pitching by Shannon Convey, and caught fly balls, held Elk Point to one run in each of the fifth and sixth, while Clandonald put in three runs each time. Going into the seventh, the score was 19 to 14 for Elk Point. Clandonald managed five runs to tie the game, but Elk Point had last bat, and like a 'sudden death' ending, needed only one run to end the game. The final score was 20 to 19 for Elk Point.

They have since won one and lost one to Dewberry, by one run each time, and have beaten Marwayne twice. On Thursday, June 2, the PeeWee girls will go to Kitscoty to play at 6:30 p.m..

The other sports teams are invited to contact me regularly with their scores or schedules.

On April 30, Ev and Ken Lawrence celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. They renewed their vows in the afternoon, then joined family for dinner, and invited all their friends to an evening of dancing. Friends and relatives came from as far away as Texas to wish them well.

Trudy and Doug Sparks have a new daughter, Lisa Mary, born on March 3. Congratulations.

We express our sympathy to the families and friends of John Mulgrew and Tom West, who have passed away recently. Both were well known and respected in the area.

Congratulations to Carolyn Yaceyko, who has graduated from Bible College in Edmonton.

Hugging feels good, overcomes fear, eases tension, provides stretching exercise if you're short, and stooping exercise if you're tall. Hugging does not upset the environment, saves heat and requires no special equipment. It makes happy days happier and impossible days possible.

What's news at the library

May 30 to June 5 is National Access Awareness Week. We found that the Elk Point Public Library has excellent public access. Disabled people have no problem entering the library as the entrance is street level and very large. The lighting in the building is bright and cheerful, making it easier for those with sight impairments to read. We also found the bathrooms large and easy to enter for those using a wheel chair or crutches. There are an ample number of tables and chairs available for those who want to do homework, projects, or just read.

Last week we had an exciting puppet show entitled 'Little Red Riding Hood'. The wolf was the star of the show, causing the preschoolers to shout with laughter and excitement. Because of the success of the puppet show, the Library is already starting to think of new shows that will entertain the children at storytime. Any suggestions??

The library had quite a few books arrive this week which were written by some very popular authors. One of these is a science fiction writer named Ron L. Hubbard. We have five of the ten volumes in the series, four of these being new. The new additions are: Black Genesis Vol. 2, The Enemy Within Vol. 3, An Alien Affair Vol. 4, and Death Quest Vol. 6.

We also received a board-book series for the children's section by Mercer Mayer which includes four books: Police Critter, Fireman Critter, Astronaut Critter, and Cowboy Critter. We also received another children's book entitled Manners at the Table by Alison Tharen which is amusing and will teach your child good manners at the same time!

Auxiliary holds May meeting

By Irene Magnusson

Monday, May 23rd, was Victoria Day, but it was also the fourth Monday, which made it Hospital Auxiliary meeting day, and eleven members braved the dust storm to gather in the hospital meeting room at 8 p.m. for their regular meeting.

Chairman Gloria Lecopoy requested a volunteer secretary, in the absence of Agnes Moroziuk, with Violet McFayden responding, and opened the meeting with the usual prayer and roll call.

Treasurer Bernie Kozicky gave a detailed financial report, which included all proceeds from the May 12 tea and sale, returns from Canteen sales, a gift of $50 received from UGG, results of the rug raffle, and memorial donations received.

It was suggested the Canteen could be open on more days, if volunteers can be found to run it.

Members were reminded of the Regional Conference coming up in Wainwright, on June 23-24, but no one present is able to go. Any member who could go but wasn't at the meeting, should contact the executive.

There is to be a photo contest, ending in October, on subjects pertaining to Auxiliary works, again contact the executive for details.

The News Letter was received, requesting suggestions for a new name for itself. Pens with the Auxiliary's name were offered for sale. It was decided not to order any new rug kits at this time. Fathers' Day tray favors were decided upon. No 'quilt block' will be made, as the hospital still has not selected a logo.

No report was received regarding the Pet Therapy program, as the leader of this effort, Hughie Krucik, was not present.

Following adjournment, Teresa McCuaig invited any and all to 'Participact' on Wednesday, in particular out at the Golf Course, but anyone may take part-at any place-and should report their hours of activity to make up the grand total.

Coffee and squares were served-and enjoyed.

Blood pressure clinic successful

The Registered Nursing Assistants and Nursing Assistants of Elk Point Hospital would like to thank everyone who helped make their Blood Pressure Clinic on May 13 a success. Approximately 150 BPs were taken. Thank you also for the kind donations received, half of which is being given to our local youth club.

A big, hearty thank you to Rodger

Watch for us again on Canada Day. We'll be in the parade and we'll also have a booth on the grounds. Hope to see you there!

Close PC race expected

As the PC candidacy nomination meeting for the Beaver River Constituency nears, all five candidates are still in the running.

The meeting will be held at the Smoky Lake Arena on Saturday, June 4, at 1 p.m.

"The nomination people have been in place for a long time," president Shirley Ennis said on Monday.

Candidates running are Laverne Noble (Glendon) Jan Kozina (Lac La Biche), Dave Broda (Redwater), John Dahmer (St. Paul) and Ron Young (Grand Centre).

Ennis said she was pleased that the candidates residences cover most of the areas of the constituency.

"We've had this coverage across the total constituency and it drummed up a lot of interest."

She said the candidates have been quite busy.

Kozina said he expects to see anywhere from one to two thousand people at the meeting, and doesn't think a candidate will be selected before the third ballot.

"I don't think anyone person is strong enough to take it on one ballot."

He feels the 10 minute speeches each person has will have an effect on people's decision only after the first ballot.

"I think for the first ballot everyone has their minds made up."

"We need all of our people there, and they'll be in good shape," Dahmer said.

"I'm hoping that on Saturday some issues will come out, and not just smiles and everybody saying 'I just believe in everything the PC's are doing,'" Young said.

Candidate Laverne Noble said "there will certainly be minds made up with to start out with," but added after the first ballot there will be some changes.

"I think it will be a good, close race."

Broda agrees the winner won't likely be decided after the first ballot considering there are five people running, adding that he hopes people will have decided their candidates before nomination day, although he feels the speeches will make a difference.

The Canadian Salt Company Limited celebrating forty years at Lindbergh

Back in 1948 the Alberta Salt Company went into production at the Lindbergh plant site. Forty years later the Canadian Salt plant is celebrating 40 years of operation and inviting area residents to share in the celebration.

While the majority of people in the area have heard of the salt plant at Lindbergh, very few give much thought to the plant's operations or its products.

For instance, did you know the plant produces between 350 and 400 tons of salt every 24 hours?

Probably not. Few people do.

During the plant's 40th anniversary celebrations Thursday, June 9, the public will be given the opportunity for a first-hand look at the processing of salt and how it ends up in the salt shaker on your kitchen table.

Construction of the Lindbergh plant began in June of 1947 after oil companies drilling for oil and gas in the area came across the salt beds. The plant went into production in mid 1948 under the name of the Alberta Salt Company with a staff of 40 employees. The brand name given its products back then was Cascade Salt.

In 1948 the plant was producing about 125 tons of salt every 24-hours. Today's production is three times that amount.

Three years later in 1951, the Canadian Salt Company was formed and the product brand name changed to Windsor Salt, the name still used today.

In 1951, the plant was the first one in the world to produce fused salt on a commercial basis.

Forty-one grades of salt are produced at the plant for household (table salt, water softeners, etc.), farm (salt blocks, etc.), industrial (packing) and highway (ice control) use.

The plant, which now employs a staff of 65, is one of six Canadian Salt Company plants in Canada. The others are located in Windsor, Ont.; Ojibway, Ont.; Regina, Sask.; Pugwash, N.S. and Belle Plaine, Sask.

Products from the Lindbergh plant are shipped for use all over the province, British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and the Northwest Territories.

So where does salt come from? The centre of the earth? Well almost.

The plant has four wells descending below the earth's surface into salt beds. The original wells are 2,800 ft. deep while the newer ones descend 4,000 ft. into the earth.

These wells are filled with water, the water is then extracted and put through an evaporator leaving behind a salt brine.

Of course the procedure isn't quite as simple as it sounds. For a better understanding of the process, the public is urged to attend the 40th anniversary celebration June 9. Opening ceremonies get underway at 10 a.m. Later on in the day tours will be conducted. The minimum age for tours is 13 years and suggested dress is pants with low-heeled shoes.

Come out and join in the celebration with the staff of the Canadian Salt Company.
